

WestlawNext Canada eBulletin

February 2017

WHAT'S NEW

Additional Online Help Now Available

Find additional links to online tutorials, Quick Reference Cards and training and product support information from within the WestlawNext Canada service.

Look for the new Help link located on the WestlawNext Canada header as well as a NEED HELP/TRAINING? section on the Folders and History pages. We've also added help links and added more explanations in the Search Tips dialog box.

COMING SOON

ProView Federated Search

WestlawNext Canada's popular federated search capability lets you search multiple content types at once. Coming soon, federated search will also allow you to search content on WestlawNext Canada together with supplemented looseleaf titles that are currently on the eReference Library (ProView) – all from within WestlawNext Canada. What will this mean for you?

- Bring the full expertise of the entire collection of Thomson Reuters Canada supplemented looseleaf titles together using one search.
- Find answers more quickly and efficiently, by conducting research across multiple content sets on WestlawNext Canada and the ProView platform.
- Discover relevant, authoritative commentary on the ProView platform that you may otherwise have overlooked in your research

Canadian Abridgment features

New features involving Canadian Abridgment classifications will allow researchers to pinpoint relevant information even more quickly. Researchers will now be able to access cases or filter results topically from four new access points.

Customers will be able to link through to more cases on specific topics by accessing links to the abridgment digests from the following:

- in the expanded related abridgment classifications box at the top of each case (this was previously collapsed)
- in Keycite Canada result lists

Additionally, researchers will be able to further narrow down their results topically as follows:

- filter by abridgment classification for cases and decisions search results
- filter by abridgment classification for Keycite Canada results

RESEARCH TIP

Legislative Section Ranges

WestlawNext Canada now displays section number ranges for each part of a statute or regulation directly in the legislation's table of contents, making it easier than ever to find information you are looking for quickly. Simply search or browse for the applicable Act or regulation and expand; the legislative section numbers included in each Part are displayed beside the corresponding heading:

Part I — Copyright and Moral Rights in Works (ss. 3-14.2)

